From Orange, in New South Wales, this young white shows tonnes of quality pinot gris character. The nose has honeyed pear, gentle spice and nougat aromas of some varietal complexity, ahead of a smoothly flowing palate of subtle flavour, good persistence and a clean, soft finish. (screw cap, 12.5 per cent alcohol)

Cellaring? drink over the next year.

Food idea: rich patés.

The Logan team is back with yet another brilliant and affordable range of white varietals from the chilly central ranges of NSW. From its nose of poached stone fruit and cream to its bright palate, this is a confident example that displays all the things you'd hope to find from the style, but often don't.
