From the central ranges of New South Wales, this reasonably priced wine offers a point of difference from most sub-$20 reds. The nose shows cherry and raspberry fruit with an exotic floral/spicy overlay. In the mouth, it's silky in feel and ripe in flavour, with good length and fragrance ahead of a soft, friendly finish.

Food Ideas Stir fried Chinese noodles with shredded duck; sautéed kidneys in brioche.

A neon cherry blend from the NSW central ranges with a nose that almost sets on you with smells of ripe raspberry, pepper, dried apricot and spice. The viognier adds an inky edge to a wine that's soft, dry and perfectly balanced.

RATING: ****

VALUE: Really Good

VERDICT: Very catchy

The story: Peter Logan sources his grapes from Orange and Mudgee districts, and has put together a very smart collection of good-value wines with bright, catchy fruit expression, this blend most desirable in its more fragrant moments as the Viognier comes to life.

The flavour: Good berry smells and blackcurrant flower lifts to begin, with terrific depth and richness in the palate, raspberry bullet chocolate-like, with a convincing finish.
